Early Childhood Curriculum®

A sneak peak at how learning looks at Doodle Bugs!

If our curriculum theme is Winter Weather, you will see:

.....
“Children learn as they play. Most importantly, in play children learn how to learn.”

— O. Fred Donaldson

.....

Ice fishing

Students are bundling up, putting out their 'gone fishing' signs, and letting their imaginations take over! Dramatic play complements curriculum themes to promote language development and social skills.

'S' is for 'snow'

Shaving Cream: When little fingers aren't yet ready to master a pencil grip, shaving cream is the perfect medium to experiment with shapes, lines and letters.

Journaling about a snowy day

In the writing center, children learn about the many stages of scribbling, letter recognition, and invented spelling. Thematic writing prompts encourage creative writing!

Enjoying the great outdoors

Daily outdoor play makes fitness fun while enhancing coordination, balance and other important physical skills.

Snow feels cold and wet

Tactile learning experiences reinforce curriculum themes and pique the interest of young learners.

Investigating ice

In the science center, natural curiosity inspires experimentation and exploration. Children learn best through hands-on investigation and observation!
